"You are the weakest link – goodbye!"

Watching the seven-way leaders' debate recently, I couldn't help but think it looked very much like an episode of 'The Weakest Link', the quick-fire general knowledge quiz hosted by the formidable Anne Robinson in which contestants decided at the end of each round which of their number should be eliminated.

In this contest, it is the public, however, who determine, at the ballot box, how well the candidates do. By the time you read this, the nation may already have decided who is the strongest and the weakest link, and who leaves the competition with the prize.

Humans have experimented with a mind-boggling variety of forms of government, from royal succession, military coup, to the myriad versions of democracy. In an imperfect world, no system of government is perfect, but it is usually thought that democracy is the least bad option. But given that we, the people, then have to decide who governs, how should we choose where to place our cross?

We certainly shouldn't go for the party leader or candidate who is the most photogenic, delivers the best speeches, or is able to turn on the charm. Many terrible leaders of the past have had oodles of charisma. Equally, we shouldn't feel pressured to follow the crowd, or the expectations of family or friends. Many a bad decision is made as a result of peer pressure and not being true to oneself. We should instead – to the best of our ability – choose according to our consciences, informed by good sense, and concerned for the common good, and not our own vested interests.

The Apostle Paul wrote to the Philippian Christians, 'Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit. Rather, in humility value others above yourselves, not looking to your own interests but each of you to the interests of the others' Philippians 2:3-4

That should characterise our approach to voting, but also characterise the individual or party that we choose.

Some Christians wear bracelets with the initials 'WWJD'. It stands for 'What Would Jesus Do?', a good ethical guide in any situation. The passage I quoted from above goes on to say 'what Jesus actually did':

'In your relationships with one another, have the same mindset as Christ Jesus: who, being in very nature God, did not consider equality with God something to be used to his own advantage; rather, he made himself nothing by taking the very nature of a servant' Philippians 2:5-7

Jesus made himself a servant. The word 'minister' has the same meaning as 'servant', and a "Prime Minister" must surely therefore be one who is the foremost in serving others.

Jesus is the ultimate leader – at the same time a king, a military victor, and one chosen by individuals to be their Lord – and if we are wise we will choose as our ruler one who has the same servant "mindset".

Whilst on the cross, Jesus was derided for weakness. Servants can sometimes seem weak, but Jesus in his life, death and resurrection demonstrated that seeming weakness can actually be the greatest and most loving demonstration of strength.

So this General Election, place your cross where Jesus placed his. Let your cross show your love.

Revd Dr Jonathan Mobey
Rector of Harwell and Chilton

MISSION PARTNER

The Church Pastoral Aid Society (CPAS) is an evangelical mission agency working with mainly local Anglican churches across the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland. It was founded in 1836. The Society aims to inspire and enable churches to help every person within their communities hear and discover the good news of Jesus.

Their vision is for the local church to be a church where all ages are helped to come to faith in Christ: where all are welcomed, loved taught and trained: where all are confident in sharing their faith and clear about God's call on their lives: where they serve one another and their community, growing gifts and developing leaders through the ministry of God's word and the power of the Holy Spirit.

CPAS provide training and church resources, many of which St. Matthew's and All Saints' have benefited from. It is responsible for Ventures and Falcon Camps which are life-changing holidays attended by thousands of children and young people each year. Funding is available to ensure that no one is prevented from going on a holiday due to lack of finance.

CPAS also has sole or shared responsibility for the patronage of over 500 churches including Harwell and Chilton and assists in the appointment of clergy throughout the country.

MY FAITH: ESTHER CORBISHLEY

Esther Corbishley moved to Chilton Field in April 2013 with her husband Phil, with the birth of their first child imminent. They had been living in Norway for a year after getting married in Oxford in 2011. Chilton struck them as a very friendly area and they were attracted to a new build. Living near to Heathrow airport was a main factor as Phil still works for a company which is based in Norway. But they were also attracted to being near to both countryside and town, and they felt especially welcomed by the Church community in Harwell and Chilton. Esther was born in Oxford, but moved with her family to Cornwall when she was 5 years old where she made some really good friends who went to Church. So Esther, aged 6, asked her parents if she could go to Church too, and they agreed. 5 years later Esther began to think philosophically and the question of life after death began to intrigue her. She experienced pre-teen emotions which made her negative towards her school work and rules in general. A lady at her Church talked about what it meant to her personally to be a Christian and this really struck Esther who was keen to have what this lady had. The young people at the Church were encouraged to go to a local event which had a live link to a rally by Billy Graham, an evangelist from America, who had a desire to tell people about Jesus. Esther prayed that God would take away her sin and bad attitude and give her a new life. And that's exactly what God did! She felt such a huge sense of peace and was at ease with herself, particularly when thinking about her assurance of heaven. Esther's two friends, who she had originally gone to Church to meet with, also became Christians at the event.

When Esther left school she went to study Theology in London. It was a challenging time when she thought through many aspects of her faith and found a deeper understanding of Christianity. She joined a trip to Uganda for 4 weeks which was a real eye-opener and life-changing experience. She was able to see Christians living in great poverty who had much joy and happiness.

Following her Theology degree,

Esther did a PGCE and went to work in a primary school in East London for 5 years. This was a challenge, but an experience that Esther enjoyed. In 2007 Esther moved back to Oxford to work in a rural primary school in South Oxfordshire before marrying Phil and moving to Norway.

Esther and Phil are involved in the life of St Matthew's & All Saints' and their faith is very important to them.
