St. Matthews Harwell Bell Ringing

We have a weekly practice on Thursdays from 7.30pm until 9pm, the first half hour is aimed mainly at our learners. All visitors (ringers and non-ringers) are most welcome. For details please contact Philip Roberts 861409 or Debbie Greenfield 820760.

There is an official joint practice with Chilton at Harwell on the 6th and 20th October (1st and 3rd Thursday)

There are no weddings in October but we do have visitors on Saturday the 8th. Ringing from 10am until 10.45am.

They are coming from the Dorchester, Chinnor and Thame area, which is the South Oxon Branch of the Oxford Guild. So listen out for them!

We rang prior to Jonathan's induction service on Tuesday 6th September, managing a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles with some fine ringing. The ringers were: Elizabeth Gill, Clive House, Philip Roberts, Stuart Gibson, Mark Vincent & Keith Tyler.

On the 10th September a local band rang before Heidi and Gerry's wedding and immediately after a full peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was successfully rung. After a hesitant start the ringing settled down into a good rhythm. As well as for the Bride and Groom, this peal was to welcome Jonathan to St Matthews. The ringers this time were:

1, Philip Roberts 2, Katie Lane 3, Nick Clarke 4, Di Bridle 5, Paul Hartley 6, Peter Bridle 7, Tim Pett 8, Lee Pennington.

More next month.

Jonathan writes...

I would like share this joke with you. The picture is of a wife addressing her husband, who is somewhat pre-occupied. "You never listen to me," she says in frustration, "you only hear what you want to hear." "Sure," he replies, "I'll have a beer." The sad truth is that we are not always very good at listening to one another. It is all too easy to get locked into our own little world, and pay too little attention to the views and feelings of others. But that is not the way it should be. It has been suggested that since humans have two ears and one mouth they should listen at least twice as much as they speak.

Listening skills are a key part of the curriculum at good medical schools. Such skills are taught for at least two reasons. Not only is good listening therapeutic in itself, it is also essential to the process of making a diagnosis. It is said that 90% of all diagnoses can be made simply from listening to what a patient says. Listening is also a key part of the next stage in making a diagnosis – the examination – hence the importance of the stethoscope. Another reason for listening is to expand one's own resources by gaining from the wisdom and experience of others.

I and my family are new to Harwell and Chilton, and since arriving we have been listening hard, trying to learn who's who, what's what, and where's where. I have decided, particularly during my first 70 days in post, intentionally and carefully to listen in order to discern the future direction for the churches of Harwell and Chilton. This decision is partly informed by common sense but also by Christian theology. You see, Christians believe that God is a God who cares for his people and speaks to them in order to guide them.

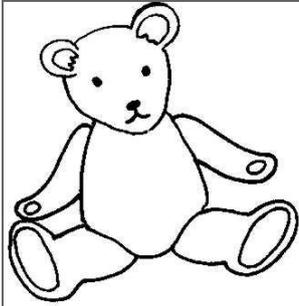

A familiar biblical image of God is that of a shepherd. In the ancient near-east and in many parts of the world today, shepherds guide their flocks to places of safety and good pasture by calling to them. The sheep learn to recognise and trust the voice of the shepherd and so follow. Jesus says "My sheep listen to my voice; I know them, and they follow me" (John 10:27).

God speaks to and guides us in all sorts of ways. Christians believe that the primary way is through his Son, Jesus Christ, as revealed in the Bible, but that God also speaks to us indirectly through other people, our circumstances and our consciences. It can be difficult to hear the 'still small voice' of God (cf 1 Kings 19:11-13) and it can be all too easy to hear what we want to hear. But if we genuinely want to hear the voice of the Good Shepherd guiding us, we can.

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Jonathan". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Revd Dr Jonathan Mobey is the new Rector of Harwell with Chilton

As part of his 'Listening Exercise', Jonathan would love to hear from anyone with any views on or ideas about the churches and their engagement with the communities of Harwell and Chilton. This can be done online (<http://tiny.cc/rie1w>) or by leaving a message on the Church Office answerphone (834256).

 ...A branch cannot bear fruit by itself; it can do so only if it remains in the vine. In the same way you cannot bear fruit unless you remain in me.
I am the vine, and you are the branches.
 Those who remain in me, and I in them, will bear much fruit; for you can do nothing without me."

Thank you to all Harwell and Chilton friends who wrote to me while I was poorly. I had lots of lovely cards and it was really beautiful and so uplifting. Grace Mein.

To make it possible for everyone to attend church next Sunday, we are going to have a "No Excuse Sunday."

- Cots will be placed in the foyer for those who say, "Sunday is my only day to sleep in."
- There will be a special section with lounge chairs for those who feel that our pews are too hard.
- Eye drops will be available for those with tired eyes from watching TV late Saturday night.
- We will have steel helmets for those who say, "The roof would cave in if I ever came to church."
- Blankets will be furnished for those who think the church is too cold, and fans for those who say it is too hot.
- Scorecards will be available for those who wish to list all the hypocrites present. A prominent space will be allotted at the top of the card for the cardholder to write his own name down first on that list.
- Relatives and friends will be in attendance for those who can't go to church and cook dinner, too.
- We will provide a variety of musical accompaniments for those who feel that the hymns are too dull or that the contemporary service is too contemporary or not contemporary enough.
- One section will be devoted to trees and grass for those who like to seek God in nature.
- And finally, the sanctuary will be decorated with both Christmas poinsettias and Easter lilies for those who never have seen the church without them.

Hope to see you there! -----Author Unknown.
